Updates and Surveys

Emails and Teams

Medical Education Directorate (MED) have taken issues with emails and Teams directly to eHealth. eHealth has recognised the significant difficulties and shortcomings of the migration. They are trying to address changeover issues.

There is short term solution to multiple email address unfortunately. However long term everyone will eventually migrate to @nhs.scot which will ultimately solve issues with moving between NHS health boards, Teams and also access to NHS Scotland contact lists.

For more information see the IT update on the MED website.

Thank you to everyone who completed Cesca's survey for RCPCH about out of programme experiences, she got a great response rate!

Linking Scotland Deanery's Virtual Teaching

Trello is a new platform for sharing teaching and training opportunities across the Scotland Deanery.

It's very easy to join so please do sign up. We are working with the reps in other regions to increase the use of this 'noticeboard' to make virtual teaching and events available to all in Scotland, regardless of region.

It's still in its infancy but is already live so take a look! Anyone can post so if you have an event you wish to share, please do so.

Follow this link. Any issues accessing please email Carol.Leiper@nhs.scot

Grid and SPIN Training

Following trainee feedback and discussion at the last STB meeting, we are keen to hear trainees' views and experiences in relation to Grid and SPIN. We are hoping to increase support and accessibility for those interested in these and would like to hear from all trainees, regardless of your stage in training and whether this is something you have done or not.

Please can you kindly complete our short survey here.

Your Health and Wellbeing:

Ailsa and Laura wished for us to reiterate their availability to offer support to anyone who would like it. They can be reached in person, via email or phone. Alternatively, we are just an email or phone call away if you need someone to have a chat.

There are a range of support networks out there with some from the deanery here.

We are always keen to hear of ideas for things that can boost team morale and support trainee wellbeing so if you have any ideas, please do get in touch.

Teething problems

There are efforts being made to improve access to scrubs and lockers; computers and desk space for specialty registrars; safety at night at the end of a shift; and the temperamental bleep system. TPDs and MED are taking this forward in a number of forums.

Well done to everyone involved in the move to Little France! The hard work and flexibility have been recognised and praised!

This was great fun last year – you don't need to be a marathon runner, any mileage counts walking or running! And it's all for a great cause.

Get your clinical team together to see which team wins! ARU already have a strong team, but PICU are a formidable force to be reckoned with!
